Better Late Than Never, Oct 10th, 2006

I must appreciate that this company has finally launched a very aggressive product after lot of modifications. The price as compared to open source code & features is just amazing. I purchased this script immediately and have customised it as per my needs and I get what I want. The only issue is that company does not responds to the emails so better be prepared to do everything on your own or hire a programmer to do the necessary customisation. Otherwise this script is outstanding & excellent.

Nice looking software but little of it works, Sep 13th, 2007

Easy to install, simple manual and a great concept makes this a very attractive product but it soon demonstrates it is not worth the money. Support is non existent, no forum and no published support service. Send them email and they deny receiving it until you request a refund to which they simply reply "No". As all but the most basic features don't work this program is better left where it belongs, on the shelf gathering dust or the bin.

Great Advertising Script!, Jan 9th, 2008

I searched through many options for an affordable in-house advertising script for my clients web-site and wasn't coming up with much. Then I came upon revsense. This script is easy to install, configure and run. I'd read some reviews stating that the company did not return emails, but in my case correspondence was fast and helpful. Truly a great script. I'd highly recommend it to anyone looking for an in-house advertising solution. Five Stars!
