It's a great script that works just like the big boys sites. The script runs really smooth once it's on your server. The admin area is full of all types of different features that you can control, from emailing users, to adding ads. The customer service is fast and really good.

I purchased Clip-Share to start a video sharing site and could not be more satisfied with the product or the support. It installed with minimal fuss & Valentin has not only been helpful, but incredibly quick to respond. I've been hitting it with everything I've got for the past two days & so far everything works as advertised. Thanks Valentin!

First of all please don't be mad because of my english. I bought this script because I needed a video source for all my other pages. I was really scared that if I pay I won't get nothing, we all know that it could happen but it didn't. I got the mail and the script in a very short time after paying. I am not a very good at php but the install was very easy but I didn't do sth right so that is why I mailed them for help. They answered an fix the problem in a few minutes!!
This guys are the best!

I did many youtube like scripts, but I must that CS is the best that I never buy before. Also support, bugs, feature request are done very very fast... And they have a great and active user's forums to help each other. Have to say again, 'BRAVO' !

So/So Script, Mar 28th, 2007

This clipshare pro script has a lot of cool features, especially that it uses the smarty template system. However, there are a lot of sections that just don't feel complete. The users area isn't clean-friend requests are merged with messages, and it gets a bit confusing. The video player is also poor compared to competitors. It's also a big table mess, and very tedious to customize-pages are merged into previous tables and it gets very tricky. Good luck if you decide to purchase this.

No good at all, Apr 9th, 2007

Well, I did try CS from a few months now, it was good when you ask sales, quick reply and all and all, after that... Nothing, you will find out that the script was full buged and bad coded...

I won't recommand at all after months using a very bad youtube clone.

If you need a good script, find out another one...

CS really sucks...

I just bought the Pro-ersion and I must say that I'm very satisfied with it.

The buying process went easy, and after paying I got the script e-mailed and the chance to setup my Client Area-account.

Right now I'm discovering all functions this script got and while I'm writing a new verision is being written, in my Client Area I can now find 15+ new mods like "Social Bookmarks", "Download Videos" and "Cloud Tags"!

If I get in trouble I turn myself to the forum after help.

The new Clip-Share Pro v. 2.5 is super! These guys have created a great script. Amazing to think that I now have a you-tube type site with great support in just a few of days. They are quick to respond, purchase is easy, the installation process goes smooth with the recommended host, and the script - excellent. My site loads fast and it's easy to customize their templates. They have a useful and active user forum where I can turn for help. I spent 2 weeks researching and they are the best.

First off I must say that clip-share.com has their "Sh$%" going on.

What I got when I purchased Clip-share.com video sharing script?

1. Up to date software.No early 1990`s script that is offered by most software providers online.
2. Nearly "instant" email support.
3. Nearly $300.00 less than the other early 1990`s scripts that are offered online.Clip-Share is with the times.The year is 2007,not 1990!
- 4.Clip-share webhosting is next to none.What should cost $200 per month,is only $12.99!

I first bought this youtube clone in May 2007 and I got very disappointed by the bugs and lack of support. ZERO support from the company. Only a little from the forum, but not enough. So I stopped using it.

I recently downloaded version 3.01, because I paid for it and wanted to have my site online at last. This version is almost bug-free and it comes with a very good installation manual. Proficiat!

However their support still sucks and still no respons from forum to technical questions.
