Flash File Upload Script

Hits: 5,467

Description: The Tribulant Flash File Upload v1.1 Script allows users on your website, and yourself to upload files directly to your server using a Flash interface with a set of great features.

By using a PHP backend file to physically upload the file using PHP functions, you as the administrator have control over the folder to which the files will be uploaded and any other uploading values such as the filename, filesize, filetype, etc...

This Flash application has error handling to check if the criteria of the file which the user is trying to upload is suitable. If not, the user will be presented with an error on the first slide. Case the file is fine, the Flash interface will move to a second slide where an upload progress bar, uploading percentage and also the KB uploaded compared to the total KB of the file is shown.

Once uploading has completed, the file will be on your server and the flash interface will move back to the upload form slide.

i have tried a lot uploading scripts befor some of them they come with progress bar some not but from all what i have tried this the best , fast , easy and the progress bar works good and easy . any one can do it , i wish the Authoer would keep it up date , i use .htaccess to limit what files shoud be uploaded and limit the size . i just Recomendad every one to give this script try

25$ for a working but very poor script, Mar 22nd, 2008

The documentation is very poor. Its a 2site-pdf file with the chmod settings - thats all. There are´nt any descriptions how to manage the uploads like filesize, filetype, redirection etc. There is only an upload.php (11 lines. $uploadDir $uploadFile +space) with an opensource flashfile. I dont know why i bought this script, 25$ for a working but very poor script.
