TigerTom's Content Freshener (TTConFresh)

Hits: 1,299

Description: A content randomiser. It can use the page-name or query_string as a keyword, and insert it in the content. Useful for SEO.

The script should be 'called' by another web page. It randomises text or HTML from a flat-file pipe-delimited database.

MySQL is not needed. It can also create a permanent include file of the randomised content, to save server resources.

Suggested uses are:

- To add useful tips quickly to the footer of a large web site.
- To add different sales pitches quickly to the footer of a large catalogue site.
- To give repeat visitors something new to read, while keeping the page on-topic.
- To help prevent other sites cloning your content exactly, and outranking you for it.

Dangerous uses are:

- To generate many web pages whose majority content is made by 'content-freshener.php' alone.
