Description: webOrama is a tool to check rapidly the content of a whole web site. It can traverse automatically and thoroughly a tree of html pages, displaying each of them in a window, thus allowing a rapid control of the appearance of the page. A single click on a button and you start a slideshow presenting all the pages of the site of your choice. It is especially useful for webmasters willing to redesign a site without risking to forget one or more files in a complex hierarchy.
