Description: I built this Website program several years ago. I haven't spent much time updating it, but it is fairly functional, complete and relatively easy to customize, update, upload and get running. It contains several pages that include a PHP slideshow for your image galleries. It also has installed a valuable "Contact Form" so that potential clients can send you email right from your page - the sent email will also contain information about the senders browser, referrer, etc. A right click disable is built into the slideshow pages for those who want to use that feature. PhpSimpleSite has a simple 4 part interface (header, footer, menu, content area) that is customizable through a config page that sets CSS descriptions. As a matter of fact, the PhpSimpleSite.com website that you are viewing right now has been built with the PhpSimpleSite Template. It is easily adaptable to any look that you please.
