

HotScripts
<http://www.hotscripts.com>  COM

Javascript Rollovers

Hits: 447

Description: This used to be the language you had to know in order to get links in a color other than blue, or do image rollovers and other such things. There is still a great deal to be done with it; that is, I don't think it will disappear in a year or two. I like using it, actually, so I am going to post a sample bit of code up here.

Resource Specifications

Platform(s):	linux, windows, freebsd, osx, sun
Date Added:	Jul 3rd, 2007
Last Updated:	Jul 3rd, 2007
Author:	Omi

Average Visitor Rating:  4.00 (out of 5)
Number of Ratings: 2 Votes

Average Member Rating:  0.00 (out of 5)
Number of Reviews: 0 Reviews

Other Links by This Member

- |  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
| AJAX-loaded pages      | Beginning ASP.NET                        | Javascript Rollovers           |
| MySQL and C#           | Beginners guide to Javascript            | Using AJAX to Post Form Data   |
| Video Url Embed Script | [SDMS] Simple Database Management System | Minimal Sanitation Techniques  |
| [Tutorial] PHP Classes | Installing and Configuring Abyss for PHP | Using Echo and Basic Operators |
| PHP Variables          | Beginning ASP.NET the Easy Way           |  |

