Description: iProductbuilder21 is a web based software system (ASP 3.0 / SQL Server 2005 DB) that allows users to build and configure products online for virtually any business. Product configuration, quotes & order processing software will validate that the selected product options are compatible and workable within your business. The iProductbuilder21 provides the facility for quoting, estimating and ordering and due to being a browser based thin client, it can be easily scaled from in house personnel to field sales and technical staff, dealers, resellers, specifiers and even surfing consumers. iProductbuilder21 can easily be integrated into our iHelpdesk21.com Online Support System to offer Online Support for all created systems and products.
