I came across crawlscore thinking it was just a site map generator, but I soon discovered my mistake.

Using crawl score, I was able to fix a few problems ob a database driven site I'd built for a client some time ago.

I'd used a lot of duplicate page titles, and didn't realise how bad it was until I my first report came.

It helped me to diagnose a few problems such as 404 and 500 errors.

To top it off, I've just sold a SEO report to a new client for their website.

cool, well worth it!
